This was in response to the introduction of GDPR on 25 May 2018 which necessitated an independence between the decision making for disclosure with the Data Protection Officer (DPO).
2.2	The structure was developed taking account demand, implementation of new systems and processes, centralisation of data management functions as well as the introduction of General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR).
2.3	The review concluded that the department be divided into two elements; the first being Information Governance which now resides under ACOR Stephens as Senior Information Risk Owner (SIRO) and the second being Information Services which continues to be managed by the Head of Criminal Justice & Data Management.
2.4	The new structure is provided at Appendix 1 and has been fully operational during the financial year.
2.5	There has also been collaborative work undertaken with the South Wales Police data management team to establish best practice which will support the work of the joint DPO who commenced in March 2020.
2.6	This report presents the key performance areas for both Information Governance and Information Services. These are monitored throughout the year by the Information Assurance Board.

	The breach	es have	e been assessed for impact as follows:
	GREEN	= 50	(Impact on data subject is minimal)
	AMBER	= 32	(Subject suffers some damage or distress)
	RED	= 6	(Impact on data subject is significant)
	No Breach	= 7	(Following assessment it was deemed to that there was no breach)

	The force has referred eleven breaches to the Information Commissioners Office (ICO) since May 2018, none so far in 2020. Ten of the breaches were assessed and closed with suitable advice given. The remaining breach relates to a national forensics service which is being addressed on behalf of the force through the NPCC lead.
	The main reasons for data breaches recorded is the reporting of personal data and disclosure of sensitive information. Appropriate action plans are developed with the individual, department and where applicable, professional standards department.
	Subject Rights Requests.
	The GDPR removed the charge in relation to subject access requests (SARs) and the force initially saw an increase in demand from individuals which has now levelled.
	Right to be Forgotten.
	Since the implementation of GDPR there have been two requests for erasure of police records, however both were wholly refused in accordance with Article 48(3) as there remained a policing purpose to retain these records.
	Information Asset Register.
	As part of GDPR record of processing activities (Article 30) the Information Asset Register regime has been established in the Information Governance team and they are working departments to document all records that are maintained and data that is held. This is undertaken through data mapping and enables the force to identify the controllers processing activities and identifies and captures processor relationships. Controller and processor relationships are also embedded in the contract and procurement process, with data sharing agreements established.
	Since the introduction of GDPR, Gwent Police compliance has been subject to internal audit and found to be operating effectively.
